

Your Flash-Soft news & updates

Trade Show season 2019 has finally wound down. It was great to be able to connect with many of our FlashPoints users and add some new ones. One of the best things that we get out of these shows is the comments (and complaints) from our customers that help drive the further development of our software. When we say that "FlashPoints is CAD, your way", we mean it. We have some really exciting changes coming to FlashPoints. In the next couple of updates, each customer should be able to find something that improves their FlashPoints experience.

Customer Pages

Most customers are not aware that they have a personalized page on the Flash-Soft website where they can view the information Flash-Soft has on file for them. You can also download FlashPoints, visit the FlashPoints Store (to renew and get more credits), and see your FlashPlan Credit usage log.

You'll find instructions for accessing your customer page in your FlashPoints Welcome email. If you need it resent, call Tech Support (508-883-0651) and we will send it to you.
